

A close-up photograph of several pink roses in various stages of bloom. The roses are set against a dark, blurred background, which makes the light pink petals stand out. The petals have a delicate, layered texture, and some show slight yellowing or staining, particularly on the larger, more open flower in the foreground. The lighting is soft, highlighting the edges of the petals.

2nd Samuel 23:29 Heleb the son of Baanah, a Netophathite, Ittai the son of Ribai out of Gibeah of the children of Benjamin,