

A low-angle photograph looking up at the dark, dense branches of evergreen trees against a bright sky. Sunlight is streaming through the canopy, creating a dramatic lens flare effect with rays of light fanning out across the frame. The overall mood is peaceful and inspirational.

Ecclesiastics 04:06 Better is an handful with quietness, than both the hands full with travail and vexation of spirit.