

A close-up photograph of a dark, thorny branch covered in clusters of small, bright red berries. The background is a soft, out-of-focus light blue-grey. The text is overlaid in a white, serif font, centered horizontally and spanning most of the vertical space.

Leviticus 26:46 These are the statutes and judgments and laws, which the LORD made between him and the children of Israel in mount Sinai by the hand of Moses.